

NO PAIN—NO BRAIN—NO GAIN

(Yes! This Goes For The Exercise Of The Brain Too!)

The Pain Of Gain—The Sin Of Cain—Do The Right Thing—Like Abel Be Slain?

“Cain believed in God his Father and spoke with Father God regularly as did Abel! If believing in God and communicating with Him, like Cain, doesn’t stop evil and yield good, what will?” Believing in and communicating with God didn’t change Cain one little bit and for the same reason as Cain, many believers today are still living corrupt lives. It is so odd to me that ‘believers’ pick on the ‘unbelievers’ as their main point of difference in deciding who goes to Heaven and who goes to Hell/Fire when God the Father says all are in the same boat, on the same journey to Hell/Fire unless there is action confirming each ones belief/unbelief. Ro 2:13 (For not the hearers of the law [are] just before God, but the doers of the law shall be justified. 14 For when the Gentiles, which have not the law, do by nature the things contained in the law, these, having not the law, are a law unto themselves: 15 Which shew the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and [their] thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another;) See all of Ro 2:12-3:31.

Each ones action or inaction confirms ones belief or unbelief. Belief without Action, Faith without Works, the Body without the Spirit, is dead Jesus, James and Paul tell us—dead in trespasses and sins—all destined to the Fire for a season/purpose to burn up the dead works of wood, straw and stubble—the natural man of this dead temporary state—in order we are told, to preserve and purify the gold, silver and precious stones of the eternal one within. The treasure of the kingdom, Jesus, Paul and others say, God has put in these earthen vessels of ours. Those who say they believe without actioned proof have already slain their Abel. God the Father preserved Cain because He was bringing forth a replacement seed named Seth (which is what his name means) in order to eventually save Cain—through the lineage of ‘The Christ’. See Gen 4. Only through ‘The Christ’ will you be saved too!

Why Believing in anything including the following will do nothing to change you, the earth or anything/anyone else, e.g. believing in: Bibles, Holy Scriptures, God, Jesus, Buddha, Mohammad, Higher Consciousness, Prophets, Climate Change, Equality, Others First—Self Last, Humanism, Freedom, Vegetarianism, No Waste, Purity, Religion, Communism, Capitalism, Socialism, Your Higher Self, No Sin, No Rules, Just Me—Self First—Others Last After I have Attained So I Then Can Help Them Etc., is Deceitfully False and Destructive!

A believing mentality, heart and attitude etc., leaves most humans with nothing more than a benignly passive will to do anything about anything. There is nothing more deceptive than ‘passive belief’ i.e. ‘lukewarm’. It is what the Bible calls ‘Vain Imagination’! All of you passive lukewarm believers are heading for the same place, according to God our Father, as are all of His unbelievers, as none of you are doing His will, nor being obedient. And then if you find out you’re believing something false thinking it’s in the Bible when it’s not—well, it can be quite a shock—especially if you claim to be a ‘Bible Believing Church’ or ‘christian’. But the greater deception is thinking you are OK because you say you are a believer—but it’s on your own terms as it suits you—the sin of Cain—but you don't do the Father's will. There are still many things now and many more over past generations that have been taught in 'Christianity' as if they are in the Bible when they are not and never were. So how did these beliefs get there and why do people follow them and passively go along with them?

Nobody cares what you believe if your belief doesn't turn into action. Where the action by your conviction is enforced, it then unmistakably and clearly confirms your belief. E.g. I watched a kid snatch a lady's handbag, who held on for dear life whilst stating in a very loud voice, "I believe you shouldn't do that!" The kid stopped for a minute to see if any 'real' action would follow. When none was forthcoming he tugged all the harder. It wasn't until the lady began to beat the kid with her umbrella did he get the message she was stating more than a 'belief' by applying real conviction to her objection of him stealing her bag. He let go and ran off because her belief turned from the passive statement into the action of defending her life and wherewithal. Her belief, conviction and action was more powerful than the boys belief, conviction and action to keep what was hers versus his to steal what did not belong to him. The witnesses, including me, were very clear she meant what she said regarding her belief—we all clapped and cheered her heartily.

I remember years ago in California while on the streets in LA witnessing of and about Jesus Christ finding a person who said they were a 'Christian Believer', said like/well, you know, I don't need to talk to them 'cause they were saved' and 'not going to Hell'. So I asked them what they and their church believed in. Immediately they went into a long discourse of what they didn't believe in like smoking, drinking, sex before marriage, dancing, going to movies, homosexuality, cheating, lying, stealing, watching the wrong TV channels and on and on...I'm sure you have all experienced it.

So I said to them, I don't want to know what you don't believe; I want to know what 'do' you believe? So they said, "Oh, well, we believe that everyone must choose to accept Jesus Christ as their Lord and Saviour to escape Hell (of which they really deserve), in order to go to Heaven when they die." "Jesus paid the penalty for our sins which prevent us from going to heaven unless we accept His offer of salvation from our sins." "So regardless of what we have done he has paid the penalty for it all on the basis we accept Him and His offer of payment."

"This means all sin has the same high value applied to it regardless of what you have done whether you stole a loaf of bread or murdered hundreds or thousands of people—the price is the same because the bible says the wages of sin—any sin—is death!" "The bible says "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God!" "So unless you tell Jesus you accept His payment offer, your sins aren't and won't be paid for and you are headed straight to Hell for eternity when you die, to pay for your own sins."

So I asked them by saying, Surely it's only if all humans are God's children can they fall short of their Father's glory? Otherwise who on earth are you talking about? Then you tell me, 'You can't save yourself, yet you must pay for your own sins for eternity, if you don't choose Jesus? However, your payment of suffering for your own sins isn't recognised by God your Father even though He is the one making you pay for eternity? He only accepts Jesus payment for your sins which is a 'one-off' payment? So, who is paying more—you or Jesus?

This means you only have the possible potential to be saved if you ever happen to find out someone has paid for your salvation, otherwise you will never be saved, nor can be saved without accepting Jesus offer which many know nothing about. This also means doing the right thing doesn't count one iota in helping to get you to heaven unless you have accepted Jesus offer first. It also means you are possibly a complete moron trying to do good or be good in this earthly natural human life being that it does nothing to help you 'get saved' as you say! It also means that if you accept Jesus offer it doesn't matter what you do afterward because you are now saved from Hell and going to heaven when you die, since your choice of real-estate—location, location, location—re your new destiny has been decided by you based on what you believe the Bible says you need to do to get to Heaven. Doing the right thing then is only for 'other people' to do, so they don't ruin other people's lives before they have perhaps chosen Jesus to save them, otherwise give me a reason, any reason, as to why they, or anyone should bother to do the right thing?

The Sinners' Lamentations to the Angel:

"I Wish Everyone Would DO The Right Thing So I Can Live A GOOD Life As/When It Suits Me!"
Oh Dear, It's Everyone Else's Fault You Are Not Living A Good Life! The Angel replied.

"I Want Everyone To Lay Down Their Lives For Me Because It's The Right Thing To Do...! So I Killed You...! Well, You Were Going To Lay Down Your Life For Me Anyway Weren't You? That's What Good Children Do—Especially Those Who Want To Please Their Father—Right Abel?"
Oh My, Not Many, If Any, Are Wanting To Do The Right Thing For You With Your Demand For Their Ultimate Sacrifice. Doing Them In, On Their Behalf—We'll Need To Think A Little More About That Belief—Cain! The Angel replied.

"Surely If They Truly Loved Me As They Claim To, I Wouldn't Need To Ask Them To Do The Right Thing!"
So You Want Others To Behave Totally Like Your Father God In All-Knowing Sacrificial Love Without Questioning You And Your Motivations As To Why You Want Them To Do That?
The Angel replied.

"How Can I Believe In Anything When Most Other Believers Like Abel Are Such Bad Examples Of Believing—They Are A Complete Turnoff?"
How Convenient Other People's Bad Examples Are Your Reason And Excuse For Not Believing! Why Don't You Apply The Same Rules To Your Use Of Money And All Other Things Such As Your Vegies—Cain? The Angel replied.

...So I told the congregation on earth, "It is not a matter of 'belief'! It is a matter of 'discovery'!"

I then asked them, "Should, 'Doing the Right Thing' be a matter of 'Law or Love'?"
"Doing the Right Thing' According to Whom?" They asked!
So again I asked, "Should it be Law or Love?"

Your Ministering Angel,
XOXXOOXXO

It’s mid 2023! We need to take a fresh look at what it means to ‘Do the Right Thing’! Not just as Christians and in business, but in everything with everyone. Look at the ‘Big Four’ Consultancy Firms—wanting everyone else to do the right thing, whilst making themselves exempt with Deloitte callously spitting out the only whistle-blower (none of the other firms had anyone brave enough), who exposed these four juggernauts of corruption in bed with government, ripping off the taxpayers by tens of millions of dollars per annum.

This big question is being asked by the whole world and everyone’s answer at first is the same as mine was. “According to me!” “Who else?” “Life’s too short for it to be anyone else!”

Well, at least that’s where we all start even if for most of us it is secretly decided. But let’s be truly spiritual and say ‘according to God’ (or be religious, or secular), I’m not going to be pedantically exclusive. This assumes of course that we all have some knowledge of or about God, know God personally like Cain and Abel, or have made some person, ideology, ism or thing very important to us our God, and have researched and studied it/them accordingly.

“Not good enough!” shout out the fundamentalists of religion.

- “It must be according to the Bible”, say the Christians.
- “It must be according to the Quran”, say the Muslims.
- “It must be according to the Tanakh, with the Talmud interpreting the Oral Torah”, say the Jews. The Tanakh (Hebrew Bible) is also called ‘the Written Torah’, which is called the ‘Old Testament’ in the Bible of the Christians, and it also makes up a large part of the Quran which also has large portions of the Talmud, although both are reinterpreted by Muhammad from Allah for Islam including portions of the ‘New Testament’ writings.
- Then there are those who’ve met Buddha at the Gas Pump.
- Also those who know much about Hinduism and Shamanism—and so the list of groups goes and grows and grows...

“Not good enough!” shout out the fundamentalists of secularism, capitalism and socialism.

- “It must be according to science, evidence based and not a belief”, say the secularists.
- “It must be according to the ‘Free Market’, one’s capital investment in land, commodities, stocks, money and workers, and the unique capital elected privilege to make money for control purposes of the ‘consumer’”, say the capitalists.
- “It must be according to equitable sharing of wealth, equality of race, status, opportunity and human rights in a society of benevolent dictators who know what’s best for you on a ‘Need to Know—Don’t Need to Know’ basis via selective ideological education”, say the socialists.

Is doing the right thing then a matter of godly conscience, scriptural obedience, the discovery of science, being rich enough to do the right thing where it’s financially viable and possible, or being willing to sacrifice your life and living on behalf of the ruling elite so they can do the right thing for everyone as it suits the current ruling ideology, or perhaps two of, or three, or all of them as expedient, according to the desires, wants and needs of those with the money and its power? Where do you at this very moment place your worth, or which is more worthy and valuable to you in your life to the present that you stoically follow (stoic = showing admirable patience and endurance in the face of adversity without complaining or getting upset), and what are your rules for living?

- Conscience toward a Holy God and others?

- Obedience to Holy Scriptures?
- Worship of Science and its Holy Discoveries?
- Devotion to Capitalism and its Holy Grail of Money?
- Sacrificial Martyrdom for Socialism and its doctrine of Holy Self-sacrifice of your individuality for the benefit of the whole? Are these other 'Socialists' worthy of you giving up your life and standard of living for them?

Perhaps you think it should be the other way around! Maybe you are meant to be one of the 'Benevolent Dictators'—like being kind to the neo-slaves/workers who will own nothing and be happy, we are being told by the WEF—plus showing compassion toward the redundant sheep as you lead them to the slaughter for your personal benefit and the 'good of all the collective' who survive the onslaught! E.g. euthanasia and 'non-medical reason' abortion—modern-day death camps/prisons and not forgetting the taking of human lives in war where today we have Christians fighting and killing their fellow Christians etc., as it has been so throughout the past two millennia showing the 'conflict of Cain and Abel' from the beginning continues forever and ever, unabated in this purposed lowered state set up by the will of God and not by the will of man, albeit contrary to prevailing religious opinions.

All for nothing more than the constantly shifting sands of political and religiously flavoured ideologies, territories and/or fleeting financial gain. This is evidence of people sacrificing their lives and the lives of others for nothing more than a 'good idea', even an 'aroma of hope' or possibly a 'pleroma of the mystics' (Dict: a : the fullness of divine excellencies and powers the pleroma of the Godhead resides in Christ corporeally—Philip Schaff b : the fullness of being of the divine life held in Gnosticism to comprise the aeons as well as the uncreated monad or dyad from which they have proceeded) that entertains the 'fancy' of some despotic person or group that demands allegiance to their 'whim of fancy' until the mindset moves to a whim more persuasive for further or greater manifold purposes of self-gain, or for a superior and higher level of consciousness.

If you are a Christian, or think you belong to or are a citizen of a 'Christian Country', you will no doubt give God all the glory for your rapidly accumulating personal wealth, extorted—perhaps legally—from the people via the systems collective of the government mandated commune—a mandate where soon you will be required to prove you are worthy of the 'human right' to live on this earth, and then suffer the consequences either way.

The Law says all must 'do the right thing' which means most don't! That is why the Law is there. Again 'Why' is the law there? Because most people do not do the right thing! So a 'Law' is enacted with certain consequences/punishments/rewards attached to it to enforce the mandate/command. Is allegiance to the law and to the people who enacted the law worth it?

Worth and value are the root words from which 'worship' is derived (worth-ship old school). Worship, incidentally, has nothing to do with belief. Hence it is easy to worship science, scripture, systems, religion, education, bravado, beauty, physique, higher consciousness, realms, people or anything else we value or are made to value by threat or promise, to idolise or deify. We all usually worship what/who we value, whether it is a 'Prophetic Star', 'Entertainment Star' or a 'Pastoral/Papal/Political/Leadership Star', or the pursuit of the 'Scientific' or 'Academic', the 'Philosophic' or 'Metaphysic' or some other 'Stardom', whether it's Western or Eastern, or Other.

The ‘Wise Men’ saw the Jesus star in the East and set off to worship their new star and pay homage with expensive gifts—not because they were believers in Jesus (they did not yet know his name), but because they were following their science and its value in revealing future major events, of which they desired to participate or they would not have brought such expensive deposits, nor travelled such distances. The boy Jesus became an object of worship due to the subjective manner the worth and value of the ‘Wise Men’ played out, owing to what the ‘Wise Men’ placed on their belief, science and skill. Of course never forget the regional source of Christianity is Eastern not Western as is its Bible and Holy Scriptures. It is an Eastern Religion and its adherents were first called ‘Christians’ in Antioch Turkey. God did not call His children Christians. It was the Turks, as recorded in the book of Acts. God just calls us His children—His sons and daughters—and He calls us His Family of heaven and earth.

This does not mean in any way I am/they were ignoring the ‘God Factor’! They may have believed it was God—others not!

It was not a matter of belief. It was a matter of discovery!

Should discovery take precedence over belief?

Absolutely! Discovery always comes first—only then have you something or someone to believe. I discovered God my Father because he uncovered (revealed) himself to me—that’s why I believe in God. Now when I come to God my Father, I believe that he is, not just by faith, but by revelation, and when he speaks to me my Father’s faith and love inspires me to believe him and now his faith and love are mine. It is called ‘Evidence based living’! Now I believe my Father and what He says, and I am also learning to understand much about what is written of Him compiled by others in what is called the ‘Holy Scriptures’, by using the ‘Holy Spirit’s Anointing’ known to most in its untranslated form, ‘Christ’.

By discovery the boy Jesus became the evidence of what/who the Wise Men found because they were willing to put their science, their belief, (or religion, or secularism) to the test and follow the star. If the star had not been revealed to them the discovery of the boy Jesus would also have remained hidden from them at that time.

So, did they do the right thing according to .....?

You figure it out! Stop looking for other wise men to discover everything for you.

We learn because God and Nature, Spirit, Life and Love, Mercy, Grace and Truth uncover (reveal) themselves to us because of our incorrigible and at times, hopeless needs, lest we die without experience/knowing/feeling the ecstasy of rising and ascending above all, from a bottomless pit to an endlessly ascending spiritual heaven as participants of the Kingdom of Heaven.

Because we are not first out of the big cosmic appearance, but toward the latest according to the studies of science and the Holy Scriptures, we need to understand that nature’s natural intent is to make itself known to us. It is not the other way around. Even Genesis reveals all the animals and creatures were brought before the Adam to make known who and what they were to Adam because Adam (as male/female children of God), was/were and are ‘last’ on the scene in that account. All of our knowledge and study of the universe regarding all things on earth and all things cosmic of nature, is making itself known to us as its offspring and newly formed anthropocentric beings. Our very ego to profit as a species makes us susceptible to receiving all that nature, the earth, the cosmos, the universe, the sub particles etc., present, reveal and lobby at us. However, everything is presenting itself to us whether we like it or not, ready or not, want it or not, by life, decay, death, regeneration, light, dark, love, fear, size, shape, sound, time, movement, the elemental, abstract, positive, negative, sometimes openly overt, other times covertly deep beneath facades we must uncover, trace, unravel, peel back, search, chase, conquer, enslave or set free, embrace or discard etc.

Some things we give a great amount of thought to, other things we ignore. In fact most we ignore, due to the convenience of ignorance to which most of us are very loyal and committed. Why are we so loyal to our ignorance? We let fear of the unknown lock us in our abyss of ignorance. We discard our ability to learn and to comprehend the unthinkable like we are afraid of committing a heinous crime! So often it's just because others ridicule or mock us for our questioning the 'status quo-god', who won't let us think more than 'quo-god' committee/synod/science/religion does. Our current education system teaches us to specialise in one or two disciplines and to ignore the rest and so we end up with incredibly lopsided and often very biased experts. That can't be helped due to our current education system. So we have countless modalities of nature and so many living and inanimate things, right in our face presenting to us, that we completely ignore or refuse to acknowledge including God and His Anointing (The Christ).

Does that mean they are not there or unimportant? Of course not! But we must understand that ignoring things of no or little interest to us, or not believing in what we don't know anything about is not a sign of and does not mean we are intelligent or not. Because we specialise or major in one or two subjects of education be it science, physics, biology, hospitality, philosophy, mathematics, technology, medicine or religion etc., means only that we have some knowledge and some understanding in these modalities but certainly not full knowledge—each of us will need to live millennia upon millennia for that! So don't think too highly of yourself—especially those of us educated by today's standards.

While we may give ourselves terms/titles such as 'Specialist', 'Generalist', 'Expert', 'Master', 'Chief Executive', 'Chairman' etc., as well as all the pedestal ascending titles we pop our idols of knowledge on including our institutions, remember, you are full of many more zeros not yet connected with known value to God, the universe, its source, life and knowledge, than those of/in you that have knowledge value. We are all still extremely ignorant. What we know is not enough! Collectively we have accumulated a lot of knowledge and this collective pool is growing exponentially. Individually though, we don't yet know much. This is of major concern because we are being robbed left right and centre. Again, as mentioned in my first piece—"Your ignorance is bliss for a predator with an extra branch of the knowledge tree you don't have!"—Mainly to keep you comfortably ignorant while they take advantage of you intentionally, or even inadvertently by pushing you in a direction that suits their dominant agenda!

The Source

The Cause of all things comes from a Source. The source is what all of nature calls God! God is the instinctive source of "Fight or Flight" among many other attributes all of nature knows and uses. It learns this knowledge by presentation from its source through interaction of all species relative to the environment in which they live. It is a form of evolution presented by God for all to learn who/what is God and they within and their relationship to God their source and they without. God is the source of the ‘seed zero’ which is a metaphor of His unborn undeveloped children. We need our zeros connected to our source to be filled with the sources love knowledge as our Father in heaven. That we ignore most of nature and all that it wants to present to us makes it not hard to comprehend why so many more ignore God the source, and all He wants to present to us. Again, we don’t initiate to look for God or God’s knowledge due to being God’s offspring. It is God that is constantly presenting himself to us from day one, as any father/mother does, but because so many of us have ignored—and are still ignoring Him, even the collective cumulative knowledge of Him is small and often false compared to what fills our libraries and mega cyber-archives held so sacrosanct, not to mention the dearth of our individual personal content! Let some guru, or some ‘new beaut leader’ do it all for us, is the prevailing thought.

Why we won’t let God present Himself to us personally and let Him speak to us directly like we let all of nature and other humans do to each other when it suits us is beyond reason? Why is it we would rather read a book about God called ‘The Bible’ than listen to Him presenting and speaking to us from Heaven, where we are told we are seated together with Him, or wait for another human—a specialist, an expert—to convince us or to tell us and teach us about God? Is God not capable of speaking directly to you? Of course He is! He is the only expert! So the incapability is on our part as His offspring, due mainly to our very highly treasured ignorance, a bubble of false security boasting our own prowess to not need Him being so extraordinarily ignorant in our knowledge, mainly taught by others, who also remain determinably void themselves. This is truly the blind leading the blind. Why is ignorance of God and the mindlessness of discarding the very concept of God presenting Himself to you, deemed to be intelligent—hmmm (*!.*!)—and even the precursor to the claim of being ‘intellectual’? Far out!!! Lots of empty seed zeros there!

God The Father gives His fullness:

- to the emptiness of men and women from within, whether they be seekers of science or not,
- as the light to the darkness of those who research or not,
- in the knowledge to the ignorant who desire the knowing or not,
- in the love to the unlovely, unloving and unloved,
- as the truth to the untruthed and its prisoners of the lie,
- as the life to the dead and the dying,
- as the way to fulfilment to those who have no way,
- in the glory of God to the vilified and tormented,
- for family acceptance and restoration to the rejected,
- in respect, dignity and honour to the despised and discarded by both men and their gods,
- in the wholeness of the Father to the fatherless and orphans of this world. Otherwise this Father is not God and He doesn’t deserve any children to love! A good Father protects the Cains of this world and takes care of the Abels who have been slain by the Cains. That is why our heavenly Father can be trusted! (See Genesis Chapter 4)

We receive of His fullness not because any of us first believed, or were obedient, or had a clean clear conscience, or searched with scientific double blind studies with peer researchers until we could prove God existed, but because He loved us as our Father and gave Himself for us and to us which is what Fatherhood/Motherhood means, in order to reveal everything in us and to us from within, as His empty ones of like-kind (His children made in His image and likeness), being filled to overflowing fullness with Christ.

Now, of His fullness have we all received and grace upon grace. Let’s help each other hear the voice of our Father. It comes with grace and truth by love through God’s faith in us.

Amazing grace how sweet the spirit and power of astounding love who can fill up someone like me, by always doing the right thing for me and you! What a loving mentor—I think I’m beginning to become like Him without having to think about it—at least a little bit—here a little—there a little!

So for me, doing the right thing is a matter of love—not law—or anything else...How about you? What do you think you are experiencing?
